BC Offers Douks Aid If They Go

VANCOUVER (CP) — The communal living Sons of Freedom Doukhobors have been offered assisted passage to anywhere in Canada—but only if they move as family groups.

The offer was made Wednesday by Premier Bennett and outlined further by E. R. Richardson, deputy welfare minister.

At the same time, Premier Bennett criticized television remarks by Toronto writer and broadcaster Gordon Sinclair who said British Columbia should be ashamed of its treatment of the sect.

The main body of the Sons of Freedom, 1,300 strong, has been camped for more than two months at Hope, B.C., 100 miles east of here. They have halted in their trek that began in the Kootenay Valley in early September and which had an announced destination of Agassiz, about 35 miles from where they now live in a summer camp opened for their use.

The Sons have said they are travelling to Agassiz to camp outside Mountain Prison where more than 60 of their number are serving sentences for terrorism.

The prison was set up solely to hold Doukhobor trouble-makers.

Of the sect camped at Hope, Premier Bennett said: "We are anxious to help them re-establish themselves anywhere they wish."

NEED ONLY APPLY

The premier said applicants had only to apply to Mr. Richardson for the assistance.

Premier Bennett's criticism of Mr. Sinclair was the second levelled within 24 hours at the Toronto Star columnist for remarks uttered on the CBC television panel show "Front Page Challenge."

Mr. Sinclair likened the treatment of Sons of Freedom by B.C. to that accorded the Canadian-born Japanese expelled from their west coast homes during the Second World War. He said the Bill of Rights should ensure the sect full privileges as citizens.

"Sinclair was completely wrong," the premier said. "The Doukhobors received voting rights and full citizenship long before the Bill of Rights. His statements were made without any knowledge of the situation."

Gromyko Says Way Clear For U.S., Soviet Accord

British troops are seen here running into action against the Brunei rebels just after landing from a troop-carrying plane. Reports today indicate mopping up operations are in effect.

Calmer, More Sober Stand 'Gives Mankind Peace Hopes'

MOSCOW — Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko today praised the "calmer and more sober" approach by Washington to international issues and said the way appears to be clear for Soviet-American cooperation.

ANDREI GROMYKO
... They Didn't Ask

Gromyko was speaking at a session of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that has been marked by attacks on Communist China and its Balkan ally Albania.

Gromyko told the Soviet deputies a "restrained and sober approach" has gained the upper hand in Washington even though the last two years have brought relapses into "extreme aggressiveness."

Russia, he said, no longer sees any unsurmountable obstacles to Soviet-American cooperation, provided the Americans want it.

DENIES U.S. CHARGES

Turning to Cuba, Gromyko sought to answer American charges that he personally misled President Kennedy and State Secretary Dean Rusk about the Soviet missile buildup on the island.

Gromyko said he assured Kennedy and Rusk there were no more nuclear weapons in Cuba. But he did not tell the American leaders about Soviet rockets on the island, because "they did not ask us."

In any event, he said the rockets came under the category of defensive weapons "as

Mr. Khrushchev pointed out yesterday."

Agreement between Kennedy and Khrushchev would mean a solution of the international problems on which the fate of mankind depends, Gromyko said.

He pointed to the international agreement on Laos as an example, coming as a result of the Kennedy-Khrushchev summit meeting in Vienna in 1961.

Tragedy And Damage Mount As Arctic Air Retains Grip

CHICAGO (AP)—A huge mass of Arctic air enveloped the entire eastern half of the United States today. The damaging and tragic effects of the prolonged late autumn cold wave and snowstorm mounted.

The unusually cold weather persisted from the northern borders deep into the southland, causing inconvenience to millions.

Damage to property and to vegetable crops in Florida was estimated in the millions of dollars. The continued cold threatened the multi-million dollar citrus crop in Florida. Temperatures ranged from the teens in northern Florida to the 30s and 40s in southern sections.

Deaths in connection with the severe winter-type weather in the last week soared to near the 100 mark—with some estimates as high as 150.

The biting cold air dropped temperatures to record low levels for the season and for the date in many areas. The southland was especially hard hit by the icy blasts.

The main core of the Arctic air was in the northern Gulf states. The mercury plunged to 11 below zero in Crossville, in eastern Tennessee. Temperatures along the coast dipped to the middle teens. Readings of zero were reported in north Georgia and in mountain areas of Alabama.

Eleven persons, including several children, died in fires in Georgia Wednesday.

Snow and crisp cold air continued to nip parts of Canada today but warm air gushing from British Columbia is expected to bring balmy weather to the Prairie provinces during the next few days.

Rebels Flee Into Jungle As Brunei Rebellion Sags

LABUAN, North Borneo (AP)—British troops pushed out from regained towns in Brunei and northwest Sarawak today chasing rebel bands seeking refuge in dense jungles and swamps.

Local British commanders were concerned that the rebels, whose strength still is unknown, would attempt to organize a long guerrilla war from swamp-land hideouts.

Several hundred tribesmen from the interior of Sarawak responding to an ancient hostility to the rebel coastal dwellers, were reported prowling the Brunei-Sarawak border area in an effort to cut off rebel bands.

However, Lt.-Gen. Sir Nigel Poett, commander of British Far East land forces, declared after a visit to operations areas that the possibility of rebel guerrilla resistance was remote after six days of revolt.

"We have broken the back of the rebellion," he said.

He pointed out that the rebels, who wanted to set up an independent state composed of the Brunei sultanate and the two neighboring crown colonies of Sarawak and North Borneo, were armed only with shotguns and a few rifles.

The lack of fierce fighting anywhere indicated the rebels wanted no showdown with British troops at this stage.

Rebel dead so far are believed to total about 50. The British have lost 10 dead. A number of civilians and police also have been killed.

NAMES IN NEWS Greek Honor For Publisher

President Kennedy said in Washington, the U.S. will issue new regulations within two weeks to discourage the flow of international commercial shipping to Cuba.

Livelier Vancouver Sundays, Streamline Mayor Elected

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Rathle, who once owned a laundry and a trucking firm, and is out to streamline city hall, swept in Wednesday as mayor of Vancouver.

Mr. Rathle, 48, a city alderman for four years, piled up votes almost from the start to dump veteran Alderman Halford Wilson and two other candidates who never were in the running.

At the same time, voters gave a decided "yes" vote to a stepped-up Sunday. They favored Sunday movies, plays, concerts and opera after 1:30 p.m. and in the evening.

Dumped as hard as the livelier Sunday was favored were two money-bylaws that would have cost taxpayers more than $4,000,000 for the purchase of two tracts of private land to be used in park development.

Figures on the turnout were not immediately available, but early predictions said they would exceed 40 per cent.

When counting stopped, Mr. Rathle had 53,733 votes, Mr. Wilson, 38,093, contractor Albert Dunn 1,084 and food merchant Edward Moxey 1,803. The

Space Switchboard Awaits Cape Canaveral Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Keeping a weather eye on the winds six to eight miles above the earth, U.S. space experts today prepared to install an intercontinental switchboard out in space.

Barring trouble from high winds above or the unseasonably cold weather below, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will send the Relay communications satellite aloft sometime between 6:30 and 8:18 EST tonight.

Relay, a more sophisticated Telstar, was designed as another step in the process of developing a spatial communications network to take the load off overtaxed land lines and ocean cables.

Relay will be carried aloft on the nose of a Thor-Delta rocket.

B.C. Downgraded Columbia - MPs Told By McNaughton

OTTAWA (CP)—The British group of about 35 legislators, Columbia government has been invited to give "downgraded" the Columbia River project to divert attention from the higher power costs of its pet Peace River scheme in the north, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton suggested Wednesday night.

"I can't prove it but, looked at logically, that is what happened," he told a group of senators and members of Parliament.

The general, 75, was Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission until his retirement in April—and thus vitally involved in steps leading up to final negotiations for the treaty signed in Washington nearly two years ago but still not ratified by Canada.

"The sooner the treaty is decisively rejected the better for all concerned including the United States," he told the

Heath Attends ECM Meeting

BRUSSELS (AP)—Edward Heath, Britain's chief negotiator with the Common Market, today attended the first meeting of the fact-finding committee set up last Tuesday by the Common Market and Britain.

The committee includes the agricultural ministers of the six countries — France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—and British Agriculture Minister Christopher Soames.

US Offers Skybolt Project To Britain Free of Charge

PARIS (AP)—The United States has offered to turn over the entire Skybolt project to Britain free of charge, qualified sources reported tonight.

They said the British have been told they can take over the highly complicated project either in the United States or in their own country if they feel they can successfully develop it.

The British government accepted the U.S. suggestion for study along with other alternative proposals advanced as replacements for the 1,100-mile, air-launched rocket, according to a British informant.

Skybolt, a rocket designed to be fired from the swift-moving platform of U.S. and British bombers, thus far has cost the United States nearly $500,000,000 for development.

The British informant said that it would be quite feasible for his country to take over the Skybolt program despite American warnings that failure might lie ahead.

Background Explained By JFK; Engineering Work Beyond Us

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says engineering required to make the Skybolt work is of a kind that has been "beyond us." But he is sure Britain will play a significant role as a nuclear power even if the ballistic missile is scrapped.

Emphasizing that no final decision on the 1,000-mile-range bomber weapon will be taken until he meets Prime Minister Macmillan in the Bahamas next week, Kennedy made clear Wednesday that he does not think there is much point in continuing development of the Skybolt, which failed its first five tests. Britain is depending heavily on the Skybolt to extend the life of the British nuclear bomber force.

"The problem with the Skybolt is that it is the most sophisticated weapon imaginable," Kennedy told a press conference. "To fire a missile Russia,

MORE TAXES

"We have by no means ruled it out," he said. "But of course it probably would mean another half-a-crown (about 25 cents) on the income tax and naturally it will have to be considered very, very carefully."

The disclosure of the American offer came at the end of a daylong behind-scenes meetings between American and British authorities on the Skybolt program.

Living Costs On Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs rose during October in eight of 10 regional cities for which detailed consumer price indexes are reported, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Sole exceptions to the upward trend were St. John's, Nfld., and Saint John, N.B., where retail price index remained unchanged.

Food and clothing costs were higher in seven cities, and housing costs were higher in five. The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

Price indexes for Western cities at Nov. 1, with month-to-month changes in brackets: Winnipeg 130.1 (129.5); Saskatoon-Regina 128 (127.9); Edmonton-Calgary 127.4 (126.9); Vancouver 130.6 (130.2).

East Germans Held As Spies

KARLSRUHE, West Germany (Reuters)—West German security forces have arrested nine East Germans who were spying on the United States and British armies in West Germany, the federal prosecutor's office said today.

The announcement said the agents, who worked in three groups, had been specially trained in East Germany before being sent to the West. They were employed by the East German ministry for state security.

Two of the groups received their instructions from the ministry by radio, the prosecutor's office said.

Police confiscated "numerous instruments" during the swoop on the group, the announcement said.

Pearkes Named Honorary Colonel

Lieut. - Governor George Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., has been appointed honorary colonel of the British Columbia Dragoons militia unit based at Kelowna.

"This is quite an honor for our Regiment," said Lt. Col. Alan Moss, regimental commander today. "We made application to National Defence Headquarters some time ago and they approved our choice. We then approached the Lieut. Governor and he has graciously agreed to accept."

"My officers and I are most pleased," he said. "Lieut. William Joseph Murphy, O.B.E. of Vancouver, who died last year, was the former honorary colonel. Captain C. H. Bull is the honorary Lieut. Col. The unit has 55 all ranks and 50 cadets in regimental headquarters and 211 in the Kelowna, 25 all ranks in "A" squadron in Vernon and 55 all ranks and 70 cadets in "C" squadron in Penticton.

"We expect to see our new honorary colonel here on January 13, but he has asked that that visit be kept informal," said Lt. Col. Moss.

C Of C Committee Chairman Reports On Highway Meeting

The B.C. Department of Highways is preparing a new route for highway No. 97 north of Kelowna.

R. W. Lupton, Kelowna Chamber of Commerce roads and traffic committee chairman, this week reported to the Chamber executive that proposals, grades and other aspects of the new route will be prepared soon and a department representative will visit Kelowna to discuss plans.

Mr. Lupton was reporting on a meeting with highway engineers attended by himself and Mayor R. F. Parkinson.

TWO YEARS
"This project, one of the dearest to our hearts, has been under discussion for two years," and it is only now that we appear to be getting near to real progress.

"Department officials made no commitments as to the date the project will begin, but we feel they now understand our feelings about the time element. The city is most anxious to find out the department's intentions so future city street plans, especially in the Knox school area may be tied into the highway development."

START PLANS NOW
"The officials said they would begin preparation of plans immediately and then suggested our best course would be to approach Premier Bennett, as our member, to expedite the matter," Mr. Lupton said.

Other Highways In Okanagan Future Development Discussed

Five other areas were discussed during the meeting.

Penticton by-pass: Mr. Lupton said the apparent understanding Mayor Maurice Finney of Penticton had with the Indian band through whose land the proposed road would run didn't concure with the department's.

He said officials at the Kamloops meeting had met with a flat rejection when they tried to proceed with the highway.

"The department is of the opinion that it might take some time to settle the problem amicably but that it will undoubtedly proceed," Mr. Lupton said.

Fraserland - Princeton route: "Without doubt this new route will come. However, it was their opinion this project is seven to 10 years in the future and I agreed. It is my opinion the Chamber should, and will, keep its finger on the pulse of progress and this time may well be shortened."

Harvey Avenue: This (street's traffic) is now under study as to number of lanes, parking, etc., and a report will be issued by the department before 1963 heavy traffic commences.

Okanagan Lake Bridge: This is now under study and is constantly being reviewed by the department as new and different safety devices are developed. There is no immediate proposal. An inquiry in a few months might be in order.

Access to Big White ski project: "It is the department's opinion McCulloch Ltd. as opposed to Joe Rich Road should be developed. It is claimed the cost of the two is comparable but the first route is shorter and would serve better as a link."

"This was a surprise since we have for a long time thought the Joe Rich route more desirable. From the ski project point of view, the Joe Rich route is almost a must compared to McCulloch."

"The department has not made plans for commitment to the McCulloch route," he said.

Mr. Lupton suggested the Chamber should try to compile complete statistics and area plans on the Rich route.

"One strong point in our presentation was to show the great saving in distance to southern Albertans heading for the Okanagan if the loop around Osoyoos can be avoided by development of the Joe Rich route."

"The department seemed ready and willing to listen to any reasonable request regarding highways," he said.

Kelowna Landmark Levelled For New Apartment House

A Kelowna landmark, the house around at the time, I guess they really built them in those days," he said.

"The house was well-used. We did a lot of entertaining in the fashion of the day; there was no television."

SUN DIAL
A sun dial, set in the spacious gardens of the home, was eventually transferred to city park, Douglas Buckland said.

The house was sold in 1943 and since then changed hands several times. Its last owner was P. E. Maskalyk who said today he bought the house in March, 1961; it was used as a rooming house.

He said he sold it several months ago to Albert Albert Slover who is in Kelowna at the moment making plans for the new building.

Jack Buckland said yesterday, "Perhaps I should have bought it myself."

The photograph was supplied by Doug Buckland today from one taken in 1923. He found it, along with other photographs and old papers, which he said he enjoyed looking at again after so many years.

Mr. Buckland said the house had a full basement, billiard room and three fireplaces. "It was the most modern

Board Sets Wage Basics After Kelowna Hearings

New regulations establishing minimum wages in the mercantile, manufacturing and hotel and catering industries were recently issued by the Board of Industrial Relations.

The orders were issued following public hearings by the Board at Vancouver and Kelowna and representations received from a number of interested parties.

The B.C. Federation of Labor, trade-unions and certain other organizations asked that the minimum wage be established at $1.25 per hour, that learners' rates be eliminated, that the differential in rates based on sex be eliminated and a 40-hour week be introduced. Employers made counter-proposals.

MINIMUM $1
After considering all factors involved, including a study of prevailing wages and collective agreements, and bearing in mind the representations made by labor and management, the Board established a minimum wage of $1 an hour, provided, however, that an employee may be paid at lesser rates during the first three months' employment in these industries. A month's employment is defined as a period of 22 working shifts.

Under the new orders an employer is permitted to pay an employee 85¢ an hour during the first month's employment in the industry, 90¢ an hour during the second month's employment and 95¢ an hour during the third month. Learners' rates as such are no longer referred to and differential rates for males and females have been removed.

Under all circumstances an employee is required to be paid not less than time and one-half his regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of eight in one day. Subject to one exception, an employee is required to be paid overtime rates for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in any one week.

EFFECTIVE JAN. 1
The exception is in cases where the Board approves an agreement under Section 11 (3) of the "House of Work Act." In such cases the employee is required to be paid the multiple rate for hours worked in excess of an average of 40 hours a week. Overtime permits, however, are not required to be obtained from the Board until eight hours in the day or 44 in the week are to be exceeded. The principle of paying overtime after 40 hours in the week is already embodied in other orders of the Board, namely, the construction industry, the pipeline construction, oil-well drilling and service industries, and the shipbuilding industry.

Garment workers are covered by the order establishing minimum wages for the manufacturing industry.

The new orders are effective Jan. 1, 1963.

Printed copies of the orders will be available at offices of the department in the near future.

CHEST AGENCIES REQUESTS MET

H. G. (Buck) Buchanan, chairman of the Kelowna Community Chest, today announced there would be no reduction in payments to member agencies, although the complete target of $22,000 has not been reached.

"Our total now stands at $19,061," he said, "and the directors decided at their meeting this week to utilize bank interest and pure administration expenses so the member agencies would not suffer."

Complete figures will not be made public until the auditors complete their work said Mr. Buchanan. The directors are now working on a complete report of the 1962 campaign.

Four Fined In Police Court

In magistrate's court today Arthur Saika of Rutland pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $15 and $50 in costs.

William Robson of Glenmore pleaded guilty to leaving his keys in the ignition of his truck and was fined $10 and $3 costs.

Jean Agnes Fehr of Glenmore was fined $25 and $5 costs for exceeding the speed limit in the city.

John Gordon Wittur, R.R. 5, Kelowna, was fined $25 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty to following behind another vehicle too closely.

Accident Reported In City Wednesday

Kelowna RCMP report one accident in the city in the last 24 hours. At 10:15 a.m. Genzaluro Tamm of Rutland was backing out from a parking spot on Bernard Ave. when his car came into collision with one driven by Henry C. Isaak of 2168 Aberdeen. There were no injuries, but damage to the Isaak car was estimated to be $200. RCMP are still investigating.

Just after noon Wednesday a Trepander resident reported to RCMP in Kelowna that he had lost his wallet containing $250. He told police he laid the wallet down on a store counter for a minute and when he looked back, it had disappeared.

Winfield Farmers Seek Rail Signals

WINFIELD — The secretary of the Farmer's Institute, was instructed at the last meeting of the group, to ask the B.C. Department of Highways and the CNR for stop lights at the Beaver Lake road crossing.

Discussion at the meeting brought out the fact the CNR has said stop lights were required at that crossing and that the dayliner crosses the road at 40 miles an hour with much less noise than the older type train.

The Department of Highways will also be asked to remove the accumulation of sand and gravel on some roads in the district.

Visibility at the corner of Beaver Lake road and Glenmore road is also bad and measures to improve it are being investigated.

A letter to the government agent in Kelowna will be written listing complaints on the number of stray animals on the roads in the Winfield pound area.

President Harold Marshall chaired the meeting with 12 members and two visitors present.

TICKETS GOING WELL

Sid Hubble, president of the Kelowna Rotary Club, told the Courier today, ticket sales for Saturday's performance of La Boheme are moving very rapidly, and indications are the performance will be a sellout. Approximately 650 tickets have been sold to date.

Persons wishing to purchase tickets may do so at Dyck's Drugs on Bernard Ave.

Gyro '62 Auction Realizes $2,320

Bill Gaddes, 1962 Gyro club auction chairman, reported today that proceeds would likely be some $700 more than the figure realized at last year's auction.

"This is our one major money raising project of the year," he said, "and although final figures are not available, it would seem our net return is $2,320. Club members are highly gratified by the support shown by the community."

"There were some bids received from out of the city, this year indicating people in the surrounding areas appreciate our Gyro park as well as Kelowna people."

"Our expenses at Gyro in 1962 totalled $2,570, a little higher than normal because we purchased a good deal of new equipment this year. Besides the new equipment, the usual repairs, maintenance and replacement were carried on," said Mr. Gaddes.

Doug Taylor was the park committee chairman this past year.

Mr. Gaddes said most of the merchandise was delivered during the hours of the auction Monday and Tuesday nights and the remainder is now at the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce office.

He asked those who have not received their purchases to pick them up at the Chamber office.

Kelowna High School Seniors Hold Slave Auction For Dance

By DONNA GREGORY

The long-awaited Christmas holidays are almost upon us and so ends the second school term in Kelowna High School as well as the year 1962. Christmas exams commence Monday and continue through to Friday. We sincerely wish Kelowna High School students the best of luck in their academic achievements.

The senior matrics are busily preparing for the Christmas Dance Dec. 21. To help finance the dance, a slave auction and slave sale was recently held.

The slaves were the grade thirteens in disguise and their demanding masters were the successful bidders at the auction.

Friday, Dec. 7, another edition of the Kelowna High School Chronicle was published. This was the special Christmas issue and it contained many interesting highlights from various school activities. The newspaper club is making a fine contribution to increase school spirit.

Attention talents scouts! From the Home Economics Department of Kelowna High School comes word of a fashion show Jan. 9, featuring the home economics sewing students modeling their new creations. The show, to take place in the auditorium immediately after school, will be open to the public at a nominal fee.

Two basketball teams from Keremeos travel to Kelowna this Friday night for a return match against the Owlettes and Owls. Kelowna High School students with a student card will be admitted free; others will be charged 25 cents. The Owlettes will be out for revenge of their close defeat a few weeks ago, while the boys' game promises to be action packed judging from the close score in their last encounter. This will be the first home game of the season so let's get out and support our teams. Last weekend the Owlettes and Owls were defeated at the hands of the two strong South Okanagan teams in Oliver.

Kelowna High School can be proud of its fine showing over the past term and the last year. Everyone should strive for even better heights in the next year to come.

Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year goes out to all and we'll be seeing you in the New Year.

Tourist Group Plans Advertising

Okanagan Valley Tourist Association Wednesday night agreed to extend its advertising campaign through the winter months.

At a meeting here, the executive agreed advertising dollars should be spent in Calgary and Edmonton to promote curling bonspiels, winter sports and scenery. Approximately $1,000 has been set aside.

Daryl Cordell of Keremeos was appointed as Similkameen representative on the OVTA's advertising committee.

Angus Heads Rutland AOTS

The December meeting of the Rutland United Church AOTS Club was held Tuesday evening in the church basement hall.

After supper, served by the ladies of the "Square Unit" of the UCW, a business meeting was held at which nominations for officers for the new year were received.

Ron Angus, who succeeded to the office of president two months ago, following the resignation of William Hulman, will continue in that office for 1963. Vice-president will be Orville Quigley, and Ron McKenzie will again be secretary, with Percy Geen, treasurer for another term.

Sportsmanship Plays Part In School Basketball Games

By WILMA GELHORN

Kelowna senior "A" boys. Activities are slowing up very considerably as Christmas exams rear their heads in ten days time.

On Monday an exhibition game was played against the Kelowna senior "A" boys. Although we were defeated, our boys put up a good battle and enjoyed the game. On Friday the Kelowna senior "B" boys, junior girls and junior boys were here for league games. Both our junior teams suffered a loss but our senior boys showed themselves victorious.

The drama club is travelling full steam ahead with their year.

Christmas Beatnik play. The production is scheduled for the afternoon of Dec. 21.

The annual club and ISCF club are preparing for the new year. Our senior basketball club is planning to attend a basketball tournament in January and are now employing many ways and means to raise funds.

In house volleyball games we find Shuswap senior boys and Chilcotin senior girls taking the championships. The house standings are as follows: Chilcotin, 112; Shuswap, 104; Takulili, 76.

The Winfield Teen Town has held an executive meeting and is in the process of organizing activities to begin in the new year.

Sinclair Can Settle The Sons Problem

It would appear that the Sons of Freedom problem in this country is no problem at all; that it exists only in the inflated minds of the people of the Kootenays and ministers of the government of British Columbia. And it can be settled quickly, if there is any desire to settle it.

This, according to Gordon Sinclair, a panelist on a TV program called "Front Page Challenge" on Tuesday night last.

Mr. Sinclair, who is just about the most obnoxious and certainly the most self-opinionated man ever to appear on a TV show, made the Sons of Freedom case very simple: they are Canadian citizens, and should be treated like Canadian citizens. Just like that.

What Mr. Sinclair forgot is that citizenship brings responsibilities and one of the responsibilities is to obey the laws of the land. And this the Sons have not done. Any other Canadian citizen, breaking the laws as flagrantly as have the Sons, would have been treated much more severely than those Mr. Sinclair upholds.

Mr. Sinclair makes it obvious that his ignorance is as colossal as his own ego. He blames the people of British Columbia for the Sons situation. He does not appreciate that these people have been conducting a revolution in this province for over forty years and that every avenue of approach to them has been tried once, twice, thrice.

Mr. Sinclair obviously just does not want to know the truth of the matter. If we thought he might be interested in the truth, we would suggest he come out to this province and check into the matter for himself. While he was here, he might settle it, indeed, and thus earn the grateful thanks of the people of this province.

But to know the truth would deprive Mr. Sinclair of part of his main stock-in-trade. He is opposed to everything; he likes to tear down; he likes to attack. Whether he is unfair or not matters not at all to him.

For our money, we have had just about enough of Mr. Sinclair. He said he was ashamed to be a Canadian because of the way the "people of British Columbia" treated the Japanese-Canadians during the war, and now the Sons of Freedom. Well, for our part we know of no single person who makes us consistently ashamed that he is a Canadian as does Mr. Sinclair.

Mr. Sinclair interjected the Sons problems into the program based on the evacuation during the war of the Japanese from the defence zone on the coast of British Columbia. On this the panel as a whole did not show up very well. Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Pierre Berton were both very vehement and, surprisingly, Mr. Fred Davis, the moderator, joined them when he made the comment: "We all agree" that the Japanese were treated unfairly!

The panel members were so biased that the Japanese-Canadian guest attempted to correct them. He made it plain that the Japanese who had been evacuated held no resentment and that most of them were rather happy. He felt that the move had solved a growing problem of a Japanese minority.

Mr. Sinclair tried to make the point—and probably did—that the Japanese were not compensated for their property loss after the war. He tried to emphasize that any compensation was mere peanuts. This factually is not so. The Japanese assets were appraised and a fair price given—despite what Mr. Gordon Sinclair may say.

While we have no knowledge of the ethical standards of panel shows such as Front Page Challenge—if, indeed, they have any ethics at all—but it does seem to us that they have—or should have—some sense of responsibility.

Free-wheeling and provocative comment may be fun and provide a lively and interesting program, but unthinking and uninformed comment such as that made Tuesday night on problems affecting British Columbia could give the watchers a quite erroneous impression of the real problems being discussed.

We are quite sure that the great majority of those watching the program on Tuesday night were quite certain that the Japanese were very harshly treated during the war. And we are quite sure that these same people are also convinced, thanks to Mr. Sinclair, that the Sons problem is only a figment of the imagination of the people of British Columbia. Both impressions, of course, are quite erroneous.

It does seem to us that panelists such as Mr. Sinclair who obviously does not know what he is talking about should exercise some restraint. This applies also to Mr. Berton. The surprising thing, though, was the lack of tact—and understanding—of Mr. Fred Davis.

THE BACK SEAT DRIVERS

BC's Tale of Two Rivers Augurs Well for New Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — The authors of British Columbia's tale of two rivers give indications of new chapters of progress as the province enters a new year.

The romances, centred on the hydro-electric potential of the Columbia and Peace Rivers, remained stormy through much of 1962, but one honeymoon was begun and, as the year approached its end, plans seemed near completion for another wedding.

The story developed on many fronts in 1962—on the banks of the Peace River, in the B.C. legislature, in Parliament, in the courts, and in the privacy of negotiations between Ottawa and Victoria and between Canada and the United States.

First major construction contracts were let and work was begun on the vast Peace River project. As the year was ending, 100 men were half-way through the $18,000,000 job of diverting waters around the site of Portage Mountain Dam, a $100,000,000 structure for which contracts are to be let before mid-1963.

B.C. POWER MERGED
In the B.C. legislature, where the previous year the government expropriated engineering studies from Peace River Power Development Company and took over the giant B.C.

Electric Company, the B.C. Electric was merged with the publicly owned B.C. Power Commission.

The new agency was called B.C. Hydro and Power Authority and was made responsible for public development of both the Peace, where it was decided the cost of power developed privately would be too high, and the Columbia.

At the same time the government changed the terms of the B.C. Electric take-over, a move aimed at defeating court action taken by B.C. Power Corporation, former parent company of B.C. Electric, to have the special expropriation legislation declared invalid.

The court action went ahead in 1962, opening May 1 and continuing to the year end. No decision is expected from the B.C. Supreme Court for several months.

ASSETS FROZEN
The Supreme Court of Canada entered the tale, too, ordering — on appeal of earlier B.C. court decisions—that the assets of B.C. Electric be held under control of a court-appointed receiver until the validity test was decided.

Effectiveness of the order may be comparable, however, to the king's men and humphry-dumpty, since the B.C. government had merged B.C. Electric with the Power Commission by the time the Supreme Court order was made.

Negotiation and parliamentary action revolved around the Columbia project, on which an international treaty signed by Canada and the U.S. early in 1961 set out terms of construction and benefit sharing, but on which Ottawa and B.C. have not settled fully the means of financing the $400,000,000 works in B.C.

Premier Bennett has insisted that he be allowed to obtain the money by selling in the U.S. on long-term basis all of the province's share of so-called downstream — benefit power — under the treaty B.C. gets half the power generated at U.S. Columbia installations as a result of storage in B.C.

FEDERAL POLICY CHANGE
The Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa had insisted this power be returned to B.C. as power.

After the June federal election which reduced the Conservatives to a minority government, Mr. Bennett held private talks with federal authorities in Ottawa. A few weeks later, in the speech from the throne, the federal government announced a policy change which apparently will permit sale of the downstream — benefit power as demanded by B.C.

Negotiations with the U.S. followed, presumably, to establish the price at which the downstream-benefit power will be sold, and they were continuing as the year-end approached.

If they are successful, only one major step will remain before construction gets underway on the Columbia in B.C., the ratification by Parliament of the international treaty while the U.S. Congress already has approved.

WORK STARTS SOON
Premier Bennett said in September that with ratification within a few months, Columbia construction would be started before the end of March, 1963.

Premier Bennett made at least two trips to New York late in 1962 to meet with financial institutions which he expects will lend B.C. the money to complete the Peace project, to cost about $450,000,000 by the time first power is produced there in 1968.

He has said B.C. will build the Columbia projects only if the downstream — benefit power sales will pay for them, and he expects they will.

OTTAWA REPORT

It Costs Lots To Be M.P.

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

How much does it cost to get elected to Parliament? And is it a profitable financial transaction?

These two questions have been raised in the wake of a federal general election once again, as the required reports by candidates are made available in the House of Commons.

Some 1,815 men and women entered their names as candidates in last June's election. So far approximately four out of five among them have complied with the law in reporting how much was spent in their respective bids to get elected; 196 candidates have not yet submitted the report required by law. These included, as the NDP spokesman Stanley Knowles was quick to point out in the Commons, two defeated Conservative candidates, one of whom has since been appointed a judge, and the other has been appointed to the Senate.

No less than 22 of these candidates spent more than $20,000 each in their bids to obtain a job which pays $10,000 a year but costs anything from $4,000 a year up. In other words, those candidates were each paying in excess of $20,000 in an endeavor to gain a position worth at most $200 per year after expenses, for a maximum of five years. Crazy?

HIGH PRICED LOSS

Real Casquette, the firebrand spellbinder who leads the Social Credit party in Quebec, was a prime target for the Liberals. Their candidate charged with the job of beating Casquette and keeping him out of Parliament was Denis Filion. He did not succeed in his mission, but he earned a transitory fame by being the most lavish spender in the whole of Canada, according to these incomplete figures. He spent $29,274 to get elected, just over ten times what Real Casquette spent to beat him.

Eldon Woolliams, the Conservative MP for Bow River, Alberta, recently gave Parliament details of the total sum spent by all the candidates in each of the elections 1945, 1953, 1957 and 1962.

The totals for this year's election are not yet available.

The 1957 election was the costliest, totalling $3,398,303 for Liberals, Conservatives, Social Credit and CCF candidates. But the following year, the Conservatives expended the highest individual total for any one party, namely $1,674,063.

These figures represent just the total which candidates themselves list as having spent. Some candidates fail to observe the law, and refrain from filing their expenses; some candidates, it is widely presumed, do not file their complete total expenditure, perhaps by accident or perhaps intentionally.

But in addition to these totals, there are undisclosed and enormous expenditures by each party organization.

For example, in his interesting survey of "The Canadian General Election of 1957," Professor John Meisel estimates that the Conservative central office spent "about $1,700,000" and that the total cost of the Conservative campaign was "probably between three and three and a half million dollars." And he adds that the "activities and consequently the costs of the Liberal campaign were on a much grander scale than those of the Conservatives."

The party probably spent two to three times as much as its main rivals. That would place the Liberal costs at between $7 and $10 millions.

To these figures must be added the cost to the federal taxpayer for handling the ballot, including the preparation of voters' lists. And we see that a general election has risen in cost, for the whole country, from around $15 million in 1945 to around $25 million in 1958, and perhaps $26 million this year.

Military Era Ends For Old Fort

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For the Daily Courier

NEWHAVEN, Sussex — The end of 200 years of military occupation of an area of the Sussex Coast line at Newhaven, used for that length of time at a fort, and the land adjoining it, owned by the War Department, were handed back to the Newhaven local council.

The Fort at Newhaven dated back to the year 1758.

In that year there was a threat from invasion by French troops. The Board of Ordnance, to meet this threat, issued instructions that nine "sea batteries," including one at Newhaven, should be erected along the unprotected coast of Sussex. Their purpose was to oppose an enemy landing at all exposed places on the sea coast of Kent and Sussex.

TO TEACH CITIZENS

Guns were to be allocated to each battery. They were to be responsible for teaching "such of the inhabitants as shall be inclined to learn how to load, point and fire the guns placed there for their defence."

During the latter part of the 18th century, however, responsibility for firing the guns was taken over by the Royal Artillery, and the master gunners were left with the responsibility of inspection and maintenance of the guns and stores.

IN PERIOD DRESS

The ceremony of handing over the Fort and surrounding land to the Newhaven local authorities was a colorful affair. It was held at the main gate of the old Fort. It was an occasion reminiscent of a day on the life of one of the army units stationed there in bygone days.

Two soldiers of the Royal Sussex Regiment, in 18th century period uniforms, were on parade to signify the link with the past. One of their duties was to close the main gate for the last time. The key was then handed over to the chairman of Newhaven Urban Council, Councillor Stanley W. Bennett, by Major Eugene Bennett, R.A., Commanding Officer of the Battle Area Clearance Unit, the last army unit to be stationed there.

A detachment of 25-pounder guns from the 25th (Sussex Yeomanry) Regiment, Royal Artillery Territorials, of Brighton fired the last rounds from the 200 year old Fort.

LONG ASSOCIATION
The band of the 1st Battalion of the Royal Sussex Regiment and buglers from Shorncliffe began the ceremony with the sounding of reveille and the hoisting of the Union Jack. A commentary was read of the long military association with Newhaven, dating back to 1758.

This was followed by the sounding of the retreat, the lowering of the flag, and the closing of the Fort gates.

A symbolic key in polished brass, inscribed as a memento of the occasion was presented to the local authority chairman. He was escorted to the main gate through a small guard of honor. The chairman and members of the Newhaven urban council then proceeded into the Fort to take it over.

It is proposed that the old Fort area will be converted into a holiday centre, adjacent land into recreation space, and a portion of the site will be set aside for the building of housing accommodation.

Don't Fail to Miss

While there are many types of advertising gimmicks, it is not very often that one sees a theatrical organization advising the public to stay away from one of its own productions. Naturally, then, the theatre-going public in Kelowna is a little surprised to have the Kelowna Little Theatre advising them to stay away from its production of "The Night of January 16th," scheduled for February.

Many KLT supporters are somewhat disappointed as they know the play and know it is good entertainment. Yet they feel impelled to take the advice which was given in the program of the KLT production, "The Matchmaker," last week. Speaking of the forthcoming play, the program said: "Don't fail to miss this exciting three-act play due to be performed early in February."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

A Dilemma For Parents

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When should parents tell their daughters the "facts of life"? I'm 13 and have not been told yet. What should I do?—M.C.

Good question, M.C. And a good, terse, sensible note. By the age of 13, girls (or boys) have acquired some knowledge of the "facts of life." If they happen to live on a farm, they know a lot of them.

However, the youngsters in cities, far in the majority, don't have that advantage. On the other hand, maybe they hear more (both correct and incorrect) from their schoolmates. Now parents are sometimes quite a bit in the dark. (Believe me, I know what I'm talking about. I'm a parent, too!) We're never quite sure what our children know or don't know. Nor do we know what they are curious about, unless they ask us.

There are all kinds of parents. Some are too shy to talk much; some are too intent on telling their children everything they can think of, regardless of whether the youngsters are ready for such information. And nearly all of us are afraid, frankly, that if we start talking about some of these things, our children will say, "Aw, Pop, or Gee, Mother! I already know THAT!" So we tend to put off our discussions. Not that we are unwilling, but we don't want to sound like dopes.

We'd rather (I think this is true of most of us) have our youngsters ask specific questions whenever they are puzzled or curious. "What's venereal disease?" "Why is peeing down gross?" "What's wrong with going steady?" "How long does it take for the baby to grow before it is born?"

I recall, from some years back, a nice lady explaining (in the manner of her day) that "The stork is going to bring you a baby brother." And remember, with satisfaction, that the little girl, then about three, tactfully whispered to her mother, "Shouldn't you tell Auntie that babies really grow in mamas' stomachs?"

If I were 13, I'd wait until one of my parents had a bit of spare time, and then ask something that I really wanted to know. I wouldn't say, "I'm old enough to learn the facts of life," or anything like that. I'd ask some specific question, and the form of the question itself would be a pretty good indication of what I did and what I didn't know already.

Get it started, and from then on, it's easy.

At least, that's the way I HOPE I'd do it—if I were 13. I know for sure that that's the way I'd like the question to be brought to me. I don't want to bore my own youngsters. (Actually, mine are now well beyond their teens.) But I do want them to know anything I can tell them, any time they want to learn.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that three is the maximum number of children a woman should have by Caesarean? Should they be spaced at least two years apart?—W.G.

There's no set rule about the "maximum" number or frequency. A couple of years between pregnancies is a good thing, but if a Caesarean is required, there is little choice.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is Tietze's syndrome?—MRS. H.A. It's a disorder of the joint where one of the upper ribs joins the breast bone. It can become sore and swollen. The cause is not known. It may subside by itself; otherwise injection of hydrocortisone may hasten healing. It is uncomfortable but not serious.

Traditional Christmas Dinner Enjoyed By Old Age Pensioners

WINFIELD — The club room of the Memorial Hall presented a very festive scene when 30 members of the Old Age Pensioners Association sat down to their annual traditional Christmas turkey dinner with all the trimmings, catered by the Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

President S. Tyndall welcomed three new members, Mrs. York, and Mr. and Mrs. Card at the start of the annual meeting which followed the dinner. The complete slate of officers for 1962 were re-elected en masse to carry on for 1963. They are president, S. Tyndall; 1st vice-president, V. R. McDonagh; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. M. Brinkman; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. Taylor. The two directors are M. Bolbeck and Mr. Taylor. Auditor R. Seeley, Recreation committee, Mrs. A. Kennerley and V. R. McDonagh.

A period of hearty community singing was enjoyed and a vote of thanks was given to the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary for the delicious dinner.

Saturday night was really Party Nite in the valley, with a party in Vernon, Westbank and Penticton. All report a good crowd and lots of fun! In Vernon the Okanagan Landing Club hosted their first Party Nite of the season in the Japanese Hall. Fred Proulx of Oliver was the emcee with various guest callers, buffet supper was provided by the hosts. In Westbank, the Westside Squares were hosts in the Community Hall. Ernie Funk of Kamloops called this party and a buffet supper was provided by the hosts. In Penticton the Wheel-N-Stars were the hosts in the Legion Hall. Vic Graves of Nelson called the party and a buffet supper was provided by the hosts.

Saturday, Dec. 15th is the Okanagan Square Dance Association Party Nite, to be hosted in the Youth Centre Hall in Summerland at 8 p.m. All square dancers are urged to come and join the fun and support your delegates who are putting this dance on. Elsie Barritt of Penticton is the emcee and invites all callers to come and bring your records. Dancers are asked to bring a sac lunch.

Saturday, Dec. 22nd the Star 'N' Aders Square Dance Club of Kelowna will sponsor their first party nite of the season in the Winfield Community Hall. Joe Card of Enderby will call the dance and a turkey supper will be provided.

This will be your last column until January 3rd and so we will take a quick look ahead. There will be a Boxing Day Party in Hidesville on Dec. 26, sponsored by the Swing All Eight. Fred Proulx of Oliver is the emcee and guest callers are invited. Refreshments will be served. The Kol Squares of Vernon usually have a Boxing Day Dance, but no bulletin on this one so check on this by phoning Linden 2-2700 or -3524. There are still a few tickets for the New Year's Eve Party in Vernon.

The Buttons and Bows are the hosts and this New Year's Eve Frolic will be held in St. James Auditorium in Vernon. Chuck Ingalls is the emcee and guest callers are invited to bring their records. Dancing starts at 9 p.m. All square dancers are welcome. Turkey dinner will be provided, also noisemakers and all the things that go with them to make a noisy New Year's Eve. These tickets are limited so contact Fred Stowell or Earl Gokey of Vernon for yours.

We have news from the B.C. Square Dance Association that Buzz Brown of San Diego, Calif. will call a dance in the High School Cafeteria Monday, January 14th at 8 p.m. Dancing until 11:30 with light refreshments available throughout the dance. This is in Penticton.

Until Jan. 3rd—
A very Merry Christmas to all and may you have a New Year full of "HAPPY SQUARE DANCING!"

Saturday, Dec. 22nd the Star 'N' Aders Square Dance Club of Kelowna will sponsor their first party nite of the season in the Winfield Community Hall. Joe Card of Enderby will call the dance and a turkey supper will be provided.

AROUND TOWN

Miss Barbara Gaddes is returning home to Kelowna today. Miss Gaddes who travelled over to Europe on the 'Homeric' has enjoyed the last three and a half months touring the British Isles, France, Spain, Italy and Greece with two University friends. The three girls returned to Vancouver this week by jet where Barbara has been visiting friends for the past few days.

A number of informal parties have been held recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fredericks of Bankhead who are leaving this week for Trinidad with their family. Mr. Fredericks having been transferred as manager of the San Fernando Branch of the Bank of London and Montreal. While in Kelowna he acted as assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Fredericks' trip to Trinidad will be made by jet airliner via Montreal, Jamaica, and Nassau.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Giordano and family have taken up residence at 1250 Belaire Ave. The former occupants, S/Sgt. and Mrs. M. E. R. Reid and family are now living at No. 3 Melkie Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gale, Dilworth Crescent, motored to Vancouver and visited relatives over the weekend.

Gene Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Marshall, Knox Mountain Road, celebrated his eighth birthday last Thursday with a party for a number of his young friends.

Also enjoying birthday celebrations with a party last week was Robbie Sperle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Sperle, Highland Drive North.

The First Dr. Knox Cub Troop is considering collecting newspapers to swell their funds and would like interested parents and friends to act as bundles of papers for them. ANN LANDERS

Carrier Boys Work Hard!

Dear Ann Landers: Our son delivers papers and takes his job seriously. The problem I am writing about is the lack of consideration shown by some of his customers.

Ben's territory includes many apartment buildings. People move out left and right, leaving no forwarding address, and Ben gets stuck with the bill. Maybe they don't realize it's the carrier boy who is left holding the bag.

Then there are always folks who are slow-pay and the boy has to come back two and three times to get his money. This isn't fair. Ben has had to travel extra miles, doubling back for collections — in all kinds of weather.

I wish you'd remind people, Ann, that the carrier boy is trying to be a good little businessman and he deserves a break. Thank you.—D.L.

Dear D.L.: The carrier boys are industrious youngsters who should be rewarded for their efforts, not exploited because of their youth. And they are very important young men in my life. I couldn't get this column to many of you without them, so please treat 'em good, folks.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it possible that men go through the menopause as women do?

My husband is 50. We have four grown children and seven grandchildren. Our lovely home is paid for, we have no financial worries and this should be, as the poets say, "the time of life for which the first was made."

About two years ago my husband began to get cranky and irritable. He found fault with my cooking, fussed about the way his shirts looked, complained that my hair-do wasn't right. Nothing suited him. During the presidential elections he fought with everyone. He didn't like Kennedy or Nixon and finally voted for his own write-in candidate—Hoot Gibson.

These last few months he has become sullen and withdrawn. He has lost interest in poker, bowling and lodge work. His personality is totally different from what it was three years ago. Can it be the male menopause?—MRS. L.K.

Dear Mrs. L.K.: Men do not experience menopause in the same sense that women do. The personality change you describe sometimes occurs in men when they reach their mid-40's or early 50's, which is the corresponding age for "the change" in women.

Your husband should have a complete medical check-up. If nothing is organically wrong, the physician probably will recommend a psychiatrist.

PASS OUT
VERONA, Italy (AP) — A schoolteacher found three little girls asleep in her fifth-grade class this week and couldn't wake them. An ambulance took them to the hospital. The children confessed they had taken sleeping pills to escape a test they feared they couldn't pass.

Valley White Cane Club Feted By Lions Clubs In District

The members of the Okanagan Valley White Cane Club were entertained by the Lions Clubs of the Valley, on Monday evening at the Anglican Parish Hall.

There were over 100 members, guides, and guests present. A most delicious banquet was served with turkey and all its trimmings.

Before beginning the meal, grace was said by Bishop Sovereign. After several speeches, by some of the guests, Bishop Sovereign was asked to speak, and during his address, told us many amusing stories. After this, the party, was entertained by the Kelowna Men's Choir under the direction of Mr. Austin. We had the pleasure of listening to this choir last year at our Christmas party, and were again thrilled by their rendition of several beautiful and lively songs.

At the end, thanks were given to all in any way responsible for this wonderful party and entertainment.

Also boxes of chocolates were handed out to blind members. Transport to and from Kelowna for the Vernon blind and guides was in a bus which had been arranged for by the Lions and was most ably driven by one of them.

Wrap Those Yuletide Gifts With A Gay Holiday Spirit

By ELEANOR ROSS

According to a major manufacturer of gift-wrap items, more than 18 million dollars is spent annually on the more than 500 million gifts that we exchange each year.

Wow! And a small fortune must be spent by some of us on aspirin and tranquilizers after a bout of Christmas gift-wrapping!

MAKE IT EASIER
Shouldn't be so, for each year new items are added to make the task easier.

It's a good idea to go at the task systematically, first planning the job, then shopping for the beautiful papers, ribbons, seals, tags and ornaments according to a set scheme.

All items should be on hand when the job is begun. This is one task that cannot be tackled in a haphazard fashion.

ALWAYS READY
And keep gift-wrapping items assembled for use throughout the year. Wrapping a birthday or an anniversary gift, when just one at a time has to be tackled, help to make one adept when the big gift-wrapping season rolls around. With a little practice and all the wonderful items available, it doesn't take too long for even the rankest amateur to do a "conversation piece" wrap.

The measured papers, the pre-made bows, the beautiful ornaments, the bags and containers of various sizes and shapes present a tremendous variety from which to choose. The bags are especially nice for packages of awkward sizes. Finished with ribbons and a pretty ornament, they look different from the conventional boxed-and-wrapped gifts.

Exercise imagination, using a variety of ideas of your own, even if they do seem a bit out of the ordinary, but as long as such ideas are in good taste and express the sentiments of the season, all is well.

FUN THINGS
Do fun things with household items. Give little gifts a big send-off with especially beautiful and imaginative wrappings.

Choose wrappings according to the recipient. A gift for a man should be extremely smart but essentially simple and masculine, making use of wraps rather than bows and ornaments.

A gift for a child should receive special care and be wrapped with an extra helping of love. A girl teenager will enjoy a gift wrapped in one of those glittery, sequin-strewn papers.

WATCH THE EXPERTS
A good idea is to spend a little time observing the technique of the girls at a professional gift-wrapping counter.

BASEBALL TROPHY WON BY VERNON

Vernon Kals Junior Baseball Club received the Hotelmen's Trophy at a special luncheon in Vernon Wednesday for the B.C. championships in 1962.

Manager Marshall Clark, left, and team captain Gordon Nuyens receive the trophy from president of the league Harley Shockey. Other two trophies, also the property of the Vernon Kals for one year, are left. Norwood Trophy for champion playoffs and

Sewage Site Settlement Unsighted Yet at Lumby

LUMBY (Correspondent) — Settlement of the land on which Lumby's sewage lagoons have been built has not been reached, and the village commission does not know why.

A communication that was to be received from the village solicitors two days after the meeting of parties concerned, (Nov. 30) has not been received. Village chairman, James W. Inglis, agreed to visit A. F. Crowe of Galtbraith, Crowe and Adams to try and find out a solution to the problem.

The commission discussed a statement made by lawyer Jack Davis, (representing E. Haller, owner of the property) in which he said the plans had not been filed. Mr. Crowe had answered that the bylaw had been passed and that was the same thing.

Easement for the 20-foot wide access strip to the lagoons has been settled however with the village giving full grazing rights to the landowner.

On this portion drawings have been received from the engineering firm of Hadden, Davis and Brown, indicating where the manholes would be found. However, it was found that they had been buried under a foot of mud. Mr. Inglis expressed concern and related a telephone conversation he had with the engineers where they cautioned him to be sure the farmer did not plow or cultivate over these manholes to put dirt in them. "Yet we find them one foot beneath the level of the ground and already covered," he said.

HOLE EXTENSIONS

Commissioner Greg Dickson quipped: "Write and ask them if they have any hole extensions for sale." It was decided to write the engineers, telling them of the situation and asking for further direction.

A letter was received from Dr. Duncan Black of the North Okanagan Health Unit, advising the village that Clarence Wiebe had been taken on as a sanitary inspector - in-training and would be assisting the present inspector, Gordon Fyvie.

A letter from civil defence headquarters said the village's quota had been cut to $220. Legion President Harvey Howard announced boxing would be held every Wednesday night in the Youth Centre under the direction of Marcel Charest and that a Legion member would be there to supervise. Mr. Howard said too it was hoped that one night of gymnastics would also be arranged.

Council learned that Cecil Wills intends to resign as Lumby's fire chief effective the end of the year. Mr. Wills has held this position since the inauguration of the fire district 10 years ago as he was responsible for the initial training of the firemen.

Choirs Garner Carol Cash

VERNON (Staff) — More than $100 in silver collection was received by the Vernon Rotary Club Tuesday night at the first of three festival of Christmas carols nights to be held in Trinity United Church. Sixteen choirs from Vernon and district are taking part in the 10th annual festival, including the famed Vernon male chorus, the Songwriters of the United Church and other church choirs. The carol evenings continue tonight and Thursday at 8 p.m.

STORES TO OPEN ON MONDAYS

VERNON (Staff) — Vernon retail stores will remain open Monday, Dec. 17, and Christmas Eve, Monday, Dec. 24, until 5:30 p.m.

There will also be an extension of store-closing hours Dec. 21 and Dec. 22, when all Vernon stores will remain open until 9 p.m.

Following Jan. 1, New Year's day in which all stores will be closed, regular stores begin Jan. 2.

Tomato Growing Posers Outlined at Vernon Meet

VERNON (Staff) — About 50 people attended a day-long tomato forum held in the Japanese Hall in Vernon this week. Results of a federal-provincial department of agriculture tomato marketing study were reviewed and recommendations for a new type of tomato pack were given.

Previously, the bulk of Okanagan fruit was marketed in wooden crates containing four-five pound veneer baskets topped with a tin material. The new pack is of a cardboard material which lends itself well to overprinting with color or advertising. It too consists of four-five pound baskets. More rigid baskets, better clearance on the top of the package, better eye appeal and cleats for handling coupled in a considerable per unit reduction in cost as compared to the former pack make the new proposal quite attractive.

WRAPPING POSSIBILITY

Consideration was given to the possibility of wrapping this and other packs with a vitafilm wrap designed to improve eye appeal and promote shelf life.

A further recommendation aimed to help deliver the Okanagan tomato pack to market in good condition was the suggestion to precool the fruit and ship it in cool vans. This entails leaving packed fruit in a packing house overnight and circulating cool air around it to remove the field heat. The cool or fruit is then shipped via refrigerated vans to market. The temperature level for these operations would be 35-degrees.

T. R. Bulmer, of Bulmer's Cannery Ltd. and F. E. Atkinson of the experimental station, Summerland, reviewed the problems of the tomato processor.

Consideration Of Four-Year Rotation Necessary Due To Disease Build-Up

Due to disease buildup in tomatoes it is becoming more important yearly to consider a four-year crop rotation and a tomato spray program. Details of a tomato disease control program were reviewed by J. A. Macey, plant pathologist, B.C. Dept. of Agriculture and E. Woodlawn of the Canadian Department of Agriculture. Spray equipment suitable for tomato crops was demonstrated by K. E. May, agricultural engineer, B.C. Department of Agriculture.

According to Brian A. Hodge, vegetable specialist for the B.C. Department of Agriculture in Vernon, copies of the tomato disease control program and information as to sprayer design can be obtained from any district agricultural office.

A. C. Lander, sales manager of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency, reviewed the fresh tomato market prospects. He suggested that the 1963

BANANAS ARE IMPORTED for the same reasons that LEMON HART RUMS ARE IMPORTED

Bananas are not native to Canada... and neither are rums. Lemon Hart, for example, is produced under the most wonderful conditions in The Caribbean. But for Lemon Hart, even that is not enough: It's shipped to London where it rests quietly in underground vaults where neither the temperature nor the humidity varies more than a degree or two year in year out. Then, meticulously blended and bottled it's finally shipped to Canada... smooth, mellow, delicious... a perfect product of that small area of the world that is famous for distinguished rum.

New Indictments Name 44 Slanted Oil Well Drilling

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—A 18-month state investigation of slanted oil well drilling resulted this week in 200 new indictments naming 44 men including a state court judge.

The indictments allege theft, conspiracy to steal, acceptance of a bribe and acceptance of a bribe and acceptance of a bribe.

The Gregg County grand jury also delivered a formal report declaring:

"This grand jury, to a man, takes the position that illegal drilling must be eliminated forever by whatever means necessary."

"In years past our people may have failed in their responsibilities as citizens. Possibly we have been too apathetic and overly inclined to wink at transgressions of the law. This situation, too, is subject to change."

Oil experts have testified before the Texas state house investigating committee, which joined the state attorney general and Texas railroad commission in the investigation that slanted wells may have drained oil worth $100,000,000 from leases of rightful owners in the last dozen years.

Drillers have testified that the practice of angling wells under the authority of others sometimes as far as half a mile to one side, was far from uncommon in the vast east Texas field and three smaller fields. The railroad commission which regulates the oil industry, said Tuesday tests have detected 243 deviated wells. Dozens of civil suits claiming millions in damages have been filed.

University Presidents Doubt "Pink Cells" Exist

TORONTO (CP)—Presidents of five Ontario universities expressed doubt that Communist or "pink" cells exist on most Canadian university campuses.

The accusation was made Tuesday by H. W. Toigham, president of Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited, in a speech to the Montreal Rotary Club.

Mr. Toigham said there is no danger some students will be "permanent converts to Communist ideology."

Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's University in Kingston, said there is less student Communist influence on Canadian campuses today than there has been at any time in history.

Dr. Murray Ross, president of Toronto's York University, said students on his campus are conservative and are gravely concerned about maintaining democratic principles.

J. G. Hagen, president of the University of Waterloo, said there may be some campuses throughout Canada that have Communist groups, "but we don't have them here."

Minute Inspection Sequel: Atlantic Bill Goes Through

OTTAWA (CP)—After nearly four days of peering at every paragraph, phrase and punctuation mark, the Commons finished clause-by-clause study Tuesday night of a government bill to create the Atlantic development board. Third reading of the Commons' final approval, was expected today.

The bill would establish a five-member board to inquire into and report on methods to boost the economy of the Atlantic provinces.

None of the parties opposed it, but some members said it doesn't go far enough.

In introducing the proposed amendments, Thursday opposition MPs said each suggestion was designed to make the board more effective. But the government had enough voting support to reject every motion, while opposition parties split within themselves on several occasions.

Malcolm MacInnis (NDP—Cape Breton South) proposed an amendment which would require the board to make public its reports. Another would have allowed for the board to retain special consultants on a permanent basis. Others sought to enable the board to undertake studies on its own without instructions from the federal cabinet, and provide for a full-time chairman instead of a part-time one.

Industrial Wage Rise

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians working in manufacturing industries earned an average weekly wage of $77.55 in September, compared with $76.17 in August.

This was reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which also noted that average hourly earnings in September were $1.88—compared with $1.68 a month earlier—and the work week increased to 41.3 hours from 41.

Weekly wages in September, 1961, averaged $75, hourly earnings $1.81 and the work week 41.3 hours.

Average weekly wages in durable goods industries rose in September to $83.84 from $83.87 in August. In non-durable goods industries, average wages rose to $69.95 from $69.28.

Senate Banking Committee Alters Small Estates Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's bill to amend the Bankruptcy Act to provide for the liquidation of small estates was altered Wednesday by the Senate Banking committee. The bill now returns to the Senate itself, where it originated, for passage before being sent to the Commons.

The original bill would have required creditors to file claims with the court within 90 days of the date of the bankruptcy. Under the new bill, the court would have the power to extend the time for filing claims. The bill also provides for the appointment of a trustee to administer the estate. Under the new bill, the trustee would be appointed by the court, and would be responsible for the liquidation of the estate. The bill also provides for the appointment of a receiver to administer the estate. Under the new bill, the receiver would be appointed by the court, and would be responsible for the liquidation of the estate.

Physics Nobel Prizewinner Receives Award In Hospital

MOSCOW (AP)—The Nobel Prize for physics was presented today in a Moscow hospital to the 34-year-old Jewish scientist, Lev Landau, who was virtually returned from the dead early this year after a serious automobile accident.

Landau walked to a chair from his bed but remained seated during the presentation by Swedish Ambassador Rolf Solhman in the presence of members of the Soviet Academy of Science. Other Nobel Prize awards were to be presented in Stockholm at ceremonies later today.

Landau was so badly injured in the accident last January that for a long time he was in a coma and even now has retained only a portion of his memory. He was described as "clinically dead" four times in a brief period after the accident. "Unfortunately I am so ill I cannot stand up to express my thanks," said Landau as he received the prize for his theoretical work on liquid helium at low temperatures.

A report of the presentation was given by the ambassador to correspondents who were not permitted inside. The medicine award is shared by 34-year-old James Watson of Harvard University and Francis Crick, honored for their work on heredity.

HER JEWELRY WAS ALIVE

VANCOUVER (CP)—A woman here Friday to purchase her native Mexican jewelry, a native jeweler said, was a native jeweler. She said the Mexican-made jewelry sold from $20 to $100, depending on the trimmings. Her jewelry was on a short chain. It's alive.

Pope Comments Upon Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John spoke calmly Wednesday of his illness and said he might still be Pope a year from now, but there will be another.

But a bit later, the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler seemed cheerful at his first general audience since becoming seriously ill Nov. 21.

No U.S. Indication Of Plea To Curb Imports Of Oil

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States has given no indication of any plea to curb imports of oil from Canada, where Canadian oil exports to central and east Canada have been expanding. The U.S. government official said here today. He was commenting on a Washington report that Canada will be asked at a meeting here Thursday to hold oil shipments into this area during the first half of 1963 to an increase of only three per cent above the first half of 1962. He said the American government likely will discuss Canadian petroleum.

They're After Gordon's Scalp But He's Used To Situation

OTTAWA (C) — They are calling for Donald Gordon's scalp in Parliament and burning him in effigy on the streets of Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrooke.

But controversy and attack are nothing new to the burly six-foot-three president of the Canadian National Railways.

The current dispute centres on charges he has been passing over French-speaking Canadians in making senior appointments in the publicly-owned CNR.

Mr. Gordon's reply: He hasn't been discriminating against them, nor will he discriminate in the future.

Complaints about a dearth of French-speaking Canadians in the CNR's upper echelons welled up Nov. 20 in the Commons railway committee—scene of other verbal battles between Mr. Gordon and parliamentarians in past years.

Mr. Gordon replied it was "a completely false impression" to suggest that French-speaking Canadians don't hold senior positions.

SPONSOR RESOLUTION
Since then, along with the effigy-burning scenes staged by students, there have been these developments:

1. Fifty Quebec MPs of the Conservative, Liberal and Social Credit parties sponsored a resolution asking the CNR to move immediately to appoint French-speaking Canadians to every level of the railway's executive.

2. Deputy Social Credit Leader Real Caouette introduced a bill to reduce Mr. Gordon's salary to $1. At $75,000 a year he's the highest-paid public servant in Canada.

3. Resolutions calling for his dismissal have come from such organizations as the Chicoutimi City council and the Laval University Students Association.

4. Arnold Peters (NDP—Tsimikaming) called him a "silly ass" during a Commons speech criticizing a switch in a passenger train schedule and declared: "We should get rid of Gordon." Some other MPs agreed.

5. There was a bomb threat scare in the CNR's Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal.

The hotel was the centre of controversy a few years ago when numerous groups in Quebec wanted the new building named Chateau Maisonneuve. They took out most of their ire on Mr. Gordon.

The Scottish-born Mr. Gordon, who will mark his 63rd birthday next Tuesday, has made no comment on the recent attacks.

"The cry of 'Gordon must go' has been welling up periodically ever since he became the CNR's president Jan. 1, 1950. Even then he had a reputation as a tough-minded administrator, earned during wartime years as Ottawa's price control chief.

For nearly 12 months during 1960-61 it looked as though Gordon might be going. The government didn't renew his appointment, leaving him on a day-to-day basis. Finally in September, 1961, he was reappointed for two years as chairman of the CNR board of directors. The government finally swung behind him, it was reported, after top rail union leaders expressed their confidence in him.

Through the years, many of the attacks on him have been generated by heavy CNR deficits—and some by economy moves he has taken to reduce the deficit.

PACKER'S BRIAN ROCHE SCORES FROM SCRAMBLE IN FRONT OF NET

Kelowna Packer forward Brian Roche makes desperate bid to get his stick on loose puck in front of Kamloops net during second period.

Roche made good his effort and picked up his second goal of the night, beating netminder Mel Reechi who had no chance to make the stop. Grant Warwick of Kamloops, and a well-known hockey figure in the Okanagan, is shown on bended knee in his effort to clear puck.

Referee John Culos keeps an eye on play from the sidelines.

Kelowna Packers Whip Chiefs 10-7

Kelowna Packers moved into a second place tie with the Kamloops Chiefs of the Okanagan Intermediate Hockey League Wednesday night as they dumped the Chiefs 10-7 in Kelowna.

Bill Jones led the Kelowna attack with a hat-trick. Jones picked up one goal in the second period and added two more in the third. Other Kelowna goals came from Brian Roche, assisted by picking up top Norbert Korthals, Mike Durbin, Dennis Casey and Nick Bulach with singles.

Gordie Kusumoto was the big gun for the losers firing home four big goals. Bud Evans, Sherry Stiles and Bob Gannon added singles.

The score was tied 1-1 at the end of the first period with both teams playing good clean, fast hockey with plenty of backchecking. Kelowna added six more goals in the second period to two for the Chiefs to run the score to 7-3. Kamloops outscored Kelowna 4-3 in the final period.

Kelowna opened the scoring at 9:25 of the first period with Roche, unassisted, picking up his first of the night. Evans, assisted by Gannon and Kusumoto, tied it up at 19:22 of the same period on a backhand shot in front of the Kelowna net.

Kusumoto notched his first goal of the night at 15:33 of the second period assisted by Gannon, and added three more in the final period.

A total of only five penalties were handed out in the game, three to Kamloops and two to Kelowna. Shots on goal by Kelowna 33, by Kamloops also 33.

Kelowna Player Signs With Habs

A former product of the Kelowna Minor Hockey Association has been signed by the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Martin Schaefer, 19-year-old Kelowna puckster, who has been playing with New Westminster Junior Royals, left Vancouver Wednesday morning to play with Regina, Montreal Canadiens farm club, in the Saskatchewan Junior "A" Hockey League.

Montreal has been granted all rights to the player by coach Bob Fenton of the Royals and coach Max McNabb of the Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League.

The smooth skating right winger scored 24 points in 12 league games with the Royals this year.

Martin, who was born and raised in Kelowna, started skating on local ponds at the age of six. Upon completion of the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena in 1948, like numerous other youngsters he took advantage of the facility and became an active participant in the Kelowna Minor Hockey Association program. He started at the bottom of the ladder with the Pee Wee Pups and worked his way through the minor ranks to the junior organization. Martin was a stand-out at right wing last season with the Kelowna Junior Buckaroos of the Okanagan Junior League.

Mrs. Schaefer, 735 Copeland Place told the Courier today, "Martin's first love has always been with hockey. He wants to be a credit to the city of Kelowna and has told me he'll do his very best and do everything to let the east know of Kelowna. My husband and I are both very happy about his progress."

I feel he is good enough on his feet and has enough in his head that he won't let us down. This has really been quite a thrill for both of us.

Martin asked me to express his thanks to Mr. Don White, his former coaches in Minor Hockey, and everyone who has contributed to his success in hockey. He is extremely grateful to everyone who has helped him.

Martin felt his possibilities of making professional hockey his career, had come to an end so he decided to move to Vancouver and attend John Oliver High School to further his education and seek a career in some other field.

He was so excited about signing that he choked up while he was trying to tell me about it in a telephone conversation."

Mrs. Schaefer also said "since he has been with the Royals he has been attending all Vancouver Canuck practices. Phil Maloney of the Canucks had taken Martin under his wing and worked with the youngster, teaching him what he could, something Martin has been very grateful for."

Don White, president of the Okanagan Junior Hockey League said, "Martin has played on my Pup, Pee Wee, Bantam, and Midget teams. I am very happy that he has been given this opportunity. He has always had the ability to become a good hockey player, and this is what we teach all our boys. I hope this will be a good example to them. If he makes this his career I think he will do us justice," he said.

"Martin has tremendous potential and ability as a hockey player, and with the right attitude towards it he'll do very well," said Bob Giordano, General Manager of the Kelowna Buckaroos.

Jack O'Reilly, Hall Road who coached the Kelowna Packers to the Allan Cup finals said, "I have always felt Martin has never been in the right environment. I found that if you handle him well he'll go out of his way to produce for you. Martin's move to Vancouver was a good one, the change of environment did him good and now I feel he'll go out there and produce for the people of Kelowna. This is a good break for him and I'm glad to see him get it."

Vancouver Coach Needing A Good Defensive Unit

Vancouver coach Max McNabb says goals will take care of themselves in the Western Hockey League. What he wants is a good defence.

The Canucks had it for a fast start this season, but their guard has fallen in the last two weeks and with it their standing in the Northern Division.

Wednesday night in Edmonton, the Flyers poured 40 shots at goaltender Gilles Villeneuve and scored on six of them to beat Canucks 6-4.

The night before in Calgary, Villeneuve had to be sensational to rescue a 3-3 overtime tie. In that one he stopped 54 shots.

The game left Canucks trailing the first-place Seattle Totems by three points, and Flyers another eight points back of Canucks. The win-Edmonton's third in 18 games—left them three points ahead of last-place Calgary.

SEALS DOWN COMETS
In the Southern Division, San Francisco Seals defeated Spokane Comets 5-2. The standing now has Portland Buckaroos with 35 points, Los Angeles Blades with 30, Seals with 26 and Spokane with 21.

Flyers got their goals from Warren Hyman, Neil Forth, Sid Finney, Bo Elik, Jack McIntyre and Barclay Jager.

WHL scoring leader Phil Maloney picked up one of the Canucks' goals and assisted on others by Dave Duke and Al Lebrun. Rookie Trent Beatty was the other Vancouver scorer.

The Seals took a 1-0 lead into a free-scoring third period at Spokane. They ran their lead to 4-0 by the seven-minute mark and coasted home.

San Francisco scorers were Danny Belisle, Duke Edmundson, Orland Kurtenbach, Camille Bedard and Nick Mickoske.

Ray Brunel and Bev Bell answered for Comets.

The Seals will seek to move two points closer to second place when they play the Blades at Los Angeles in tonight's only game.

Kelowna Buckaroos Dump Kamloops Rockets 6-4

High-flying Kelowna Buckaroos moved within two points of league-leading Kamloops Rockets Wednesday night when they edged the Rockets 6-4 in Kamloops.

Last night's win stopped the Kamloops win streak at 16 games.

Terry Kasubuchi and Harvey Stoltz led the Kelowna attack with two goals each, while Marcel Verma and Bob Gruber scored singles.

Glen Madsen scored a hat-trick for the Rockets while Dale Sandkyke added a lone single.

Two top centresmen with the Kelowna Buckaroos share top spots in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League scoring race.

Both Bob Gruber and Fred Thomas each have 46 points. Gruber has put together 20 goals and 26 assists, while Thomas has 17 goals and a league-leading 29 assists.

The perennial leader Glen Madsen of the Kamloops Rockets has dropped to second spot with 21 goals which is tops in the league, and 21 assists for 45 points. Linemates Glen Richards and Larry Bedard follow with 36 and 33 points respectively.

Kamloops netminder Roy Hart leads all comers with a 3.07 followed by Kelowna's Sid Shussel who has a 3.28. Dave Groenhausen of Vernon holds a 6.40 and Ron Spafford of Penticton has a 13.00.

Kamloops Rockets continue to lead the four team circuit with 14 wins one loss and two ties. Kelowna Buckaroos are right on their heels with 13 wins two losses and two ties for 28 points. Vernon Blades are in third place with six points, while Penticton Vees are deep in the cellar with one win against 15 losses.

Big "M" Headed For Best Season

The way Frank Mahovlich is playing now, you'd have to give him a good chance of scoring 50 goals this season. That is, if you can forget what happened to him the last time he came close to that season-old mark.

The big left winger for Toronto Maple Leafs has been flying of late. He has scored eight goals in the last eight games to take over the National Hockey League leadership in that department with 15.

His play gives every indication he's headed for his best season ever—and that would almost have to mean more than 50 goals.

But he has one big hurdle to pass. The late-season scoring blues that have cropped up more than once in his career.

Two seasons ago Mahovlich had 40 goals in 48 games, and even the long-shot gamblers would have hesitated before betting he wouldn't make it. The ones that took the chance made a killing. He scored only eight goals in his last 22 games.

TRYING HARDER

And in 1957-58, his rookie season, he scored 18 goals in the first half of the season, two in the second half.

Last season things were better. He had 13 the first half and 18 the second half.

This season the six-foot-two native of Timmins is a much more polished performer. Leaf manager-coach Punch Imlach sees a number of improvements.

"He's trying harder and I think that's why things are starting to break for him," Imlach says.

"He's shooting the puck instead of slapping it. He's staying on his wing and not stopping as much inside the other team's territory to try to set up a play. He's driving right in and this makes a difference. And he's coming back further to get the puck."

This last change in his style of play has produced some of the most colorful end-to-end rushes seen in Toronto for some years. If he can get the puck near the Leaf goal with time to build up speed the opposition defence finds him one of the toughest men in the league to stop.

BOUNCING RIGHT

Mahovlich himself won't attribute his recent goal-scoring streak to anything.

"You get the bounces and a few go in for you once in a while," he says. "And I guess they're going to start asking questions if I don't start producing."

Imlach has been quoted as saying that if Mahovlich played to his full potential, the Leaf coach would be laughing at the rest of the league. And Chicago Black Hawk forward Jim Norris let money do his talking on Mahovlich's worth. At an early-morning party after the All-Star dinner in October, he offered Leafs $1,000,000 for Mahovlich.

If he makes it, Mahovlich will be the fourth man to score 50 goals in an NHL season. Now retired Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens was the first.

Montreal's Bernie Gosselin equalled the mark in 1960-61, the year Mahovlich was stranded at 48 goals, and Chicago's Bobby Hull tied it again last season.

But the Leaf winger isn't thinking in terms of that accomplishment yet. "It's possible," he says. "But it's too early to start talking about it."

END ADVANCE—FOR THURS., DEC. 13

Bouchard Swaps Uniform For Grey Flannel Suit

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Butch Bouchard, the rock of Montreal Canadiens' defence a decade ago, has exchanged his blue-and-white uniform for one of grey flannel.

Now 42, Bouchard has become a highly successful—and prosperous—restaurant owner.

He retired in 1956 after 15 seasons in the National Hockey League so he could, he now says, devote more time to his family and his business.

Since then he has become caught up in so many other activities, from politics to charities and youngsters' sports, he is right back where he started—his talking again of giving up at least some of them so he can devote more time to his family and his business.

Despite his success, the five-time all-star still remembers a lost $25 from his playing days.

The money disappeared during a game against Chicago Black Hawks. The Canadiens' late coach, Dick Irvin, thought the Black Hawks had too many players on the bench. He sent Bouchard, the team captain, over to referee Red Storey to demand a penalty.

FORGOT PROMISE

Storey, he says, sent him back to Irvin with the word, "no penalty."

"Dick sent me out again to tell Red no penalty, no game. Red got a bit excited at that and told me, 'If you don't get your team on the ice you'll get a misconduct.'"

"Now a misconduct meant a $25 fine and I wasn't very interested in that, so back to Dick I went again. But he said, 'Don't worry, you go out there and argue with that guy. If you get a penalty I'll pay it.'"

"So out I went and I argued. And I got the penalty—but I never did get that $25 back from Dick."

Not that he needs the money—his east-end restaurant is large, softly lit and filled with gleaming linen, glistening glasses and paying customers.

Because of his big name in sports and his business success, Bouchard—his first name is Emile but it is almost never used—is in constant demand to

FILLS THE BILL By Alan Mayer

Bert Olmstead To Ask Rangers Permission To Play For Trail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bert Olmstead plans to ask New York Rangers of the National Hockey League for permission to play for Trail Smoke Eaters in the world hockey championships.

The former NHL star told The Sun in a telephone interview from Calgary Tuesday: "I will jump at the chance to play for the Trail club."

The veteran left winger said he is still New York property. The Rangers drafted Olmstead from Toronto Maple Leafs in June for $20,000.

"Certainly I want to go," said the former Chicago Black Hawks, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto star.

"What player wouldn't? It's a great honor to represent your country at any international competition."

Trail coach Bobby Kromm, who has been trying to sign Olmstead for more than a month, said:

"What a Christmas present this could make. Why, it would make you believe there is a Santa Claus."

But to get Olmstead for the Smokies, Kromm has to work

Oregon Grid Star Outstanding Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Terry Baker, Oregon State's do-everything quarterback, was named the outstanding college football back in the United States today in an Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Baker, a narrow choice over Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, previously had been named to the All-America team, won the Heisman and Maxwell trophies and was the No. 1 draft choice of the National Football League.

Trail coach Bobby Kromm, who has been trying to sign Olmstead for more than a month, said:

"What a Christmas present this could make. Why, it would make you believe there is a Santa Claus."

But to get Olmstead for the Smokies, Kromm has to work

Ball Trio Share Pitching Awards

BOSTON (AP)—Southpaw Hank Aguirre of Detroit Tigers and right-handers Ralph Terry of New York Yankees and Camilo Pascual of Minnesota Twins shared honors among American League pitchers, the official 1962 records released today revealed.

Aguirre won the earned run title with a 2.21 average while posting a 16-8 record.

Terry won the most games, 23, and was the circuit's workhorse with 299 innings pitched. He also yielded the most home runs, 40.

Pascual, who won 20 games, was the pace-setter in strikeouts, 206 and complete games, 18. He also shared the lead in shutouts with teammate Jim Kaat and Cleveland's Dick Donovan. Each had five.

Robbie Roberts, the veteran righty with Baltimore Orioles, was runner-up to Aguirre with a 2.78 average.

The other 20-game winners in addition to Terry and Pascual were Ray Herbert of Chicago White Sox and Cleveland's Donovan. Herbert had the highest winning percentage, .630 based on his 20-8 record.

The Orioles had the lowest collective earned run mark, 3.692. The Angels were a close second with 3.695 followed by the Yanks with 3.703.

MCC Team Win By Six Wickets

SHEPPARTON, Australia (Reuters)—Marylebone Cricket Club, playing its third successive minor match, beat a Victorian Country cricket team by six wickets with 52 minutes to spare in a 15-minute over-day match here today.

In contrast to the previous two matches at Townsville and Bendigo, where the attendances were disappointing, this was a keen and interesting game watched by more than 5,000.

MCC had to fight a good deal harder than had been expected, a feature of the play being the excellent fielding of the country players, who packed up well and made some brilliant catches.

At no stage did MCC match the after-lunch scoring rate of the home team, which added 113 in an hour before declaring at 181 for 6 wickets after batting a little more than three hours.

The tourists were left a generous two hours, 35 minutes to win and they reached 196 for 5 in 130 minutes, Ken Harrington settling the issue with a straight drive for six.

Voted NFL Player Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay Packers' crashing fullback, was voted Player of the Year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Taylor, a 27-year-old former Louisiana State star in his fifth year of pro ball, grabbed the award won last year by Paul Hornung, the Packers' glamorous triple-threat halfback who has been crippled by a knee injury this season.

With one game to play, Taylor already has tied an NFL record by scoring 18 touchdowns all on the ground, and leads the league in scoring with 108 points and in rushing with 1,318 yards.

Y. A. Little, the old "bald eagle" who has thrown 27 touchdown passes for New York Giants, finished a strong second to Taylor in the voting. Taylor drew 19 ballots. Little had 13 and Bobby Mitchell, Washington flanker back, had four.

Taylor is a key to Coach Vince Lombardi's system of ball control that has seen the Packers score 33 of their 50 touchdowns on the ground and only 12 through the air.

"Taylor may not be as big as some fullbacks but he has balance and determination," said Lombardi earlier. "He is hard to knock off his feet and he fights for every yard."

Los Angeles Surveys Major League Hockey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Professional hockey bears a minor league taint in Los Angeles, but it is one of the most flourishing commodities in the sports market here.

What it would do as a major league product is anyone's guess. But it might be fabulous.

General manager Jack Geyer disclosed these statistics:

The first 10 home games in 1962—the club is on the road now until Dec. 13—attracted 94,075, or an average of 9,407.

MAJOR LEAGUE CITY

Los Angeles is major league, in fact, in professional baseball and football, as well as in horse racing and other pro sports.

Why not hockey? The National Hockey League variety.

Cowowner of the Blades is Daniel F. Reeves, president of the professional Los Angeles Rams and the man who gambled successfully in transferring his National Football League franchise to Los Angeles from Cleveland in 1947.

Reeves is quietly confident NHL hockey would be a great success for both the club and the league itself.

But understandably, neither Reeves nor other brass of the Blades cares to exploit a NHL shift here while they are operating as good partners in the NFL.

Stafford Smythe, president of the Toronto team, has said NHL expansion, presumably to Los Angeles and San Francisco, is as "near as tomorrow."

Observers here are inclined to think there will be many tomorrow before this happens.

TOO GOOD A THING

The owners of the six NHL clubs—Montreal, Toronto, New York, Boston, Chicago and Detroit—have too good a thing going for them.

As of now, they don't need Los Angeles or San Francisco. The two Canadian clubs, for example, can't even find enough seats to accommodate their patrons.

Transportation costs to the coast have been cited as one reason for non-expansion to the far west.

Coast fans reply that the baseball and football clubs met this problem.

Critics call the NHL a no-nonsense of the tight little group. Sports columnist Jim Murray of the Los Angeles Times recently wrote:

"The National Hockey League is about as national as eastern standard time."

Lynn Confident Quakers Will Do Well In Europe

MONTREAL (CP)—Vic Lynn, coach of Saskatoon Quakers, is confident his team will do well in its impending series of games in Europe and will create prestige for Canadian amateur hockey.

"We will beat them at their own style of play and on their own ice," Lynn said in an interview Tuesday night when the team arrived here on its air journey overseas.

He feels he has a fast club strong on offence.

"The best defence is still a good offence. We are known for our attack, but we also check hard."

Asked how his club compares with Trail, B.C., which will represent Canada at the world amateur tournament in Stockholm, Lynn said that in the playoffs last spring his team lost out only after seven games.

"I believe that answers your question."

TOP PLAYERS

Among his top players are George Senick, who won the scoring championship last year and now leads the Saskatchewan Senior League; Jackie McLeod, former professional; Don Smith, 33-year-old veteran, and goalie Don Campbell.

Lynn, who once played in the National Hockey League, believes hockey is making a comeback in Western Canada, formerly a fertile field for budding young stars.

"Youngsters have less money now than they used to and as a result they're coming back to the rinks. In Saskatoon alone we have 166 minor clubs."

Prince George Honors Boxer

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—More than 1,200 persons jammed the coliseum here Wednesday night to play tribute to boxer Harold Mann.

The 23-year-old boxer won one of Canada's four gold medals at the British Empire games in Perth, Australia.

Mann and his wife, Betty, were greeted by thunderous applause when they stepped into the coliseum prior to the start of an exhibition Cariboo League hockey game.

Mayor Garvin Dezell presented Mann with a scroll and congratulated him on his "conduct as an ambassador."

Said Mann: "I never dreamed of anything like this happening to me. I'm on top of the world tonight."

Hartack Discharged From Miami Hospital

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bill Hartack was discharged Wednesday from a hospital where he underwent x-rays and observation after a spill at Tropical Park.

Hartack complained of head injuries when he fell from Looking Ahead in Tuesday's seventh race, landed on his feet and then fell to the track.

Hospital spokesmen said the 29-year-old rider was dazed by the spill but apparently suffered no severe injury.

World Trade Competition Said Challenge To Canada

HAMILTON (CP) — World competition in the future is going to be tougher and Canadians must do "everything within our power to be ready for this competitive struggle," Trade Minister Hees said today.

The federal minister spoke at the opening session of a one-day Ontario regional industrial expansion conference.

He warned an audience of business and industrial leaders that new patterns of international trade will lead to a general movement towards lower tariffs.

"The hard truth of these developments is clear," he went on. "We will be facing greater competition in the future in every sector of Canadian industry."

Mr. Hees said Canadian manufacturers should make a stronger effort in promoting foreign markets.

He also called on manufacturing firms to take a harder look at the Canadian content of their products, examining imported components to see if they could be replaced by Canadian purchases of similar quality and price.

About three tons of material a year has to be airlifted into India's Himalaya border areas to supply each soldier.

Once upon a time there lived a mule who refused to learn anything at all about conventions. He thought conventions were strictly for the birds.

One day the mule (who always sat West) was playing in a small-stake game with a mongoose. Now the mongoose was certainly not the best player in the animal kingdom, but he did know a thing or two about conventions. He used to read every bridge book and magazine he could lay his paws on.

In this hand, their opponents — an owl (who sat South) and a pussycat (who sat North) — got to six notrump on the bid sequence shown. The mongoose, thoroughly familiar with the slam-doubling convention, doubled when the pussycat bid six notrump.

He knew that the double, in a slam contract, called for partner to lead the first suit bid by dummy. The mongoose was confident that a heart lead would beat the slam.

However, the mule was accustomed to leading the jack of spades with his kind of hand, so he naturally led the jack of spades. He knew he was supposed to lead a heart on the bidding, but, being a very stubborn critter, he wouldn't do it. He wasn't going to be awayed by any new fangled conventions, regardless of what anyone said.

The owl played low from the pussycat's hand and the mongoose played low also. If the mongoose had taken the ace, South would have had 12 easy tricks.

The owl won the spade with the king, and, being a wise old owl, he knew the mongoose had doubled the slam because he had the king of hearts as well as the ace of spades and wanted a heart lead. So the owl cashed the A-K-Q of diamonds and six club tricks, reducing the pussycat's hand to the queen of spades and the A-Q of hearts. The mongoose's last three cards consisted of the ace of spades and K-J of hearts. The owl then blinked knowingly and led a spade, and the mongoose's goose was cooked!

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

You may find yourself up against some confusing situations now. While you will have the desire to forge ahead and carry out pet projects, some what adverse influences will slow you up so that you may not be able to accomplish all that you wish. Do your best however — with a view to better days ahead.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that ambitious plans, coupled with energy and determination, could prove remunerative. Keep alert and capitalize on all available opportunities to display your ingenuity and spirit of enterprise. Don't, however, expect immediate results. You probably won't see a real upturn until May. Be careful in personal relationships during August and September. These months can be stipulating from a social standpoint, but you may have to exercise great diplomacy in domestic and community circles.

Travel and romance will be favored in June and September — the latter an all-around good month for all under this sign. A child born on this day will be intelligent and warm-hearted, but may have to curb a tendency toward dogmatism.

British MP Wants To Seek On Businessman Held As Spy

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A member of the British Parliament said today he has asked to see Soviet Premier Khrushchev to express concern over the case of London businessman Greville Wynne, held as a spy by the Russians.

Anthony Courtney, an export consultant who visits Russia about three times each year, said he did not want to comment on the "rights or wrongs" of Wynne's case. The Russians say he has pleaded guilty to espionage.

He said he made his request to see Khrushchev Nov. 21 while in Moscow on his way to Peking for trade talks with Communist China but so far had got no reply.

Courtney said "if this sort of thing is going to start up again it is a very bad augury" (they (the Russians) are strong enough not to bother about this sort of thing so much).

WORKER ARRESTED

Russia announced Tuesday that a Soviet scientific worker who had contacts with United States and British intelligence through Wynne had been arrested.

The Soviet news agency Tass identified the man as O. V. Penkovsky and said he was accused of collecting secret scientific information for the U.S. and Britain.

Civil Service Pay Affects B.C. Budget

VICTORIA (CP) — Provision will be made in the next British Columbia budget for civil service wage increases "over and above the usual annual increments," Premier Bennett said.

Some 600 volunteer civil servants went from Britain to under-developed countries from 1958 to 1962.

Tass described Penkovsky as a worker in the state committee on co-ordination of scientific research.

Diplomatic sources said Penkovsky was deputy head of the committee's foreign section in charge of looking after foreign visitors to scientific institutes and industrial plants.

Courtney said the committee sometimes checked the technical or scientific merits of goods offered for sale by foreign firms.

He said he was afraid that if such organizations "are inhabited by something like this it will retard progress in what I believe to be a very important field—the establishment of commercial confidence between us and the Russians."
